

Trauma Informed Interpreting with Children

This webinar explains the impacts of trauma from in utero to adulthood and how interpreters work with children who have trauma. Interpreters will be able to explain the impact of trauma on a child's development. Participants will be equipped to compile a list of strategies that they can use while working, especially those who have trauma while recognizing that the ethical space interpreters occupy must be adjusted depending on context. Professional knowledge and experience will be supplemented with the presenter's personal experiences as foster and adoptive parents.
